Conway Studies Proposal to Recodify New York City Law at Special Session of Legislature Thursday.

Assemblyman Thinks New Code Would Exempt Water Works Property from Taxes.

Assemblyman J. Edward Conway has been one busy man since Tuesday morning when the mail brought to him three large volumes containing the text of the proposed "Act to provide an administrative code for the city of New York in harmony with and supplemental to the New York city charter."

Altogether there are 2,960 pages of text and nearly 400 more pages of schedules of laws repealed or changed by the proposed act.

It was for the purpose of approving this act that Governor Lehman, at the request of Mayor LaGuardia, has called the legislature to meet in special session on Thursday of this week.

The understanding was that the act, on which a commission has worked for some two years, was simply a recodification of the laws pertaining to the city of New York, that it involved no important changes in the substantive law and that its approval by the legislature, although necessary, was a perfunctory act that would consume but little time and would be done by unanimous consent in a one-day session by the Albany lawmakers.

Assemblyman Conway, whose previous experience had taught him that it was well not to take too much for granted in matters of legislation of this sort, began at once the Herculean task of reviewing the several thousand pages of law and definitions thrown into his lap but two days before action was desired upon it.

Watchful as always for matters affecting his constituents in Ulster county, the Assemblyman was on the lookout for any changes in the law that would, perhaps, work an injury to the interests of the people of this section.

He had not gone far before he began to wonder whether the proposed legislation was an innocuous as he had been led to believe—and he realized that he was faced with the task not only of scrutinizing carefully the entire act, but also of comparing it, so far as it related to Ulster county, with the existing laws.

The section which first caught Assemblyman Conway's attention was section 731-3 of Chapter 36 of the proposed new code, entitled, "Assessment of city property used for water purposes." In this section the word "aqueduct" is defined to include "Conduits and all works directly required for and serving the function of inducing, regulating, equalizing, or controlling the volume and flow of water into the city of New York."

Bearing in mind the long continued legal controversies over the subject of New York city assessments, Mr. Conway was immediately struck with the wording of this section and was convinced of its possibilities of adverse influence upon the interests of Ulster county. His impression in this respect was confirmed when upon consulting two of the best legal authorities he was given the opinion that the provisions of this section would exclude from taxation a large portion of the New York city reservoir property, including the aerator. As the law now stands and under court decisions these are now taxed. Their removal from the taxable list would make a very substantial difference in the tax rate in the town of Olive and in Ulster county.

Continues Study
Mr. Conway said Tuesday night that he was continuing his intensive study of the legislation proposed to see what, if any changes there were that would affect adversely Ulster county and the New York city water works situation. He then proposed to take up the matter with New York city legal authorities and those in charge of the legislation. If assurance was given that the changes in wording were inadvertent and a satisfactory explanation was made, with the promise that the offending sections would be stricken out or amended, he would have no further objection. Should the contrary be the case, however, the Assemblyman said that he was prepared to object to the immediate consideration of the legislation. This would mean the tabling of the bill for at least three days before final action could be taken, which would permit the Assemblyman to rally his forces in opposition.

Assemblyman Conway said that the understanding was that the new city code was simply a recodification and restatement of the laws affecting the city of New York.

Port Ewen Water System Proposals Hearing Tuesday

A hearing was held Tuesday at Port Ewen firehouse before the New York State Water Power and Control Board for the purpose of hearing objections, if any, on the proposed plan of the village water board to acquire lands and rights for the erection of a water system to be derived from wells which are now being sunk on the Clay road south of the village. There was no objection offered.

For some time Port Ewen has been seeking a supply of water for domestic purposes and intends as soon as suitable supply is found to install a gravity water system in the village. Through a Federal grant the system will be partially financed. The plan calls for the erection of a large stand-pipe south of the village on the Black property to give storage and uniform pressure. Several test wells have been driven in various locations and the present site south of the village has given prospects of providing the necessary supply. At least 200 gallons per minute is required. The wells are to be of the interfiltration gallery type.

Needed Production Nears.
At present the wells south of the village are down to a depth of about 45 to 50 feet and are now being developed to provide an adequate supply. A 30-inch casing is down and the wells are producing close to the 200 gallon requirement. Pump connections are now being made so that when the well is completely developed an official test will be made to determine the capacity.

At the hearing yesterday was Mr. Bogert of Sanborn & Bogert, engineers for the water district. Mr. McCaffrey the local engineer for the engineering firm. Mr. Edinger for the State Health Department, Mr. Thompson for the State Water Power and Control Board and Roscoe V. Elsworth, counsel, and Supervisor Raymond Howe who represented the Water Commissioners.

The supply of water thus far acquired seems to meet with the State Health Department requirements although it is said the water found contains a considerable amount of iron but it is expected to clear up as the well is further developed.

As soon as the system is fully developed an official test covering a period of hours will be made to determine the capacity of the system.

Grange Is Asked To Oppose Crop Control Measures

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP)—New York's largest farm organization, the State Grange, was asked today to take an official stand against crop control legislation and to oppose the Black-Connery wage-and-hour bill now before Congress as "detrimental to labor and business."

The request was embodied in two of 80 proposals with which its resolutions committee wrestled while other delegates to the organization's 65th annual convention turned to the bi-annual election of officers.

Approximately 20 county Granges were reported reliably to have introduced resolutions condemning the wage-and-hour bill, although they were read to the convention as one proposal before being turned over to the resolutions committee last night.

At the same time the committee received resolutions expressing both opposition and favor for the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway and continuance of state milk publicity.

Merchants Will Keep Business Places Open Until 9:30 P. M. 'til Christmas

Beginning tonight and continuing until Christmas the stores of Kingston will remain open until 9:30 o'clock each evening in order that those who work during the day time may have an opportunity to do their Christmas shopping early.

At a recent meeting of the Kingston Business Men's Association at the Governor Clinton Hotel it was voted to extend the closing hours until 9:30 o'clock evenings for the nine days prior to Christmas, this period of time being considered sufficient to allow evening shoppers to do their trading and at the same time not impose an undue strain upon the clerks who must work at top speed for the Christmas rush period.

Kingston has taken on an appearance of Christmas during the past few days with the stores gaily decorated for the season and the store fronts and public buildings presenting a gay appearance with holiday decorations which at night are illuminated with many colored lights.

Merchants of the city have stocked heavily for the shopping season and are presenting a most complete line of all grades of merchandise in anticipation of a good Christmas season. As usual special offerings are being made of the stores. With the stores of the town remaining open until 9:30 o'clock each evening until Christmas the holiday spirit will be increased and early shopping will be in order. Shop early while stocks are fresh and complete and eliminate the last minute rush is the plea of every store proprietor.

3 Gas Stations, Store Robbed in Outbreak Here

There was another outbreak of burglaries in Kingston last night when three gasoline stations on Broadway and the grocery store of Michael E. Perry at 342 Broadway, were burglarized. The thief or thieves were evidently after money for no merchandise was apparently stolen at the gas stations, while at the grocery store the thieves enjoyed a midnight snack.

The gas station burglarized were the Cities Service station at Broadway and Delaware avenue, Reis Brothers station at 316 Broadway, and the Socony station, adjoining Reis's station, at Broadway and East Chester street. In reconstructing the crime the police believe that the thieves evidently broke into the three gas stations first, looking for money. At the Cities Service station a glass in the door was broken so that a hand could be inserted to unlock the door. After obtaining entry the thieves jimmied open a cigarette machine and removed what money there was in the machine. They also opened the candy case and removed what chance they found there. A drawer in a desk was also jimmied open.

At Reis Brothers entrance was obtained by breaking a glass and unlocking a window and after gaining entry the thieves jimmied open a desk drawer and also the cigarette machine. Mr. Reis said that as near as he could judge the thieves had gotten away with about $10 in money and some tools, making his loss about $20.

At the Socony station a cigarette machine was jimmied open and the money in it abstracted. At all three gas stations it was evident that the thieves were searching only for money, as nothing else, aside from some tools at the Reis station were missing this morning when all three burglaries were discovered when the stations opened for business.

After burglarizing the three gas stations the thieves went on up Broadway to the Perry grocery store. Here they tried to jimmy open the front door, but were not successful. The marks of the jimmy were plainly to be seen this morning. They then went around to the back of the store. They broke an opening in the screen door to unlock it and then jimmied open the outside door and got into the store.

In the store they broke into the

Few Taxpayers at Common Council Meeting Tuesday

Property owners of Kingston who have been delinquent in paying the $10 charge assessed against them for laterals from the new sewers to their properties were given an opportunity to appear before a special meeting of the Common Council, held at the city hall Tuesday night, and give their reasons, if any, why the charge should not be levied against their properties and included in the next general tax levy.

The delinquent property owners, however, were conspicuous by their absence at the meeting and although there are 60 or more property owners who have failed to pay the $10 charge, but a half dozen appeared and asked to be heard when President John J. Schwenk called upon any who wished to state his case.

Preceding the hearing Superintendent Conway of the Board of Public Works told the sewer construction work done with WPA help. These sewers consisted of the main lines only, laterals from the main sewers to the various properties not being a part of the plan. However, at the time the main sewers were laid, and in order to avoid tearing up the streets as they might be desired, the laterals were put down at the time the sewers were built. The plan was to assess property owners when they took advantage of these sewer connections.

1935 Resolution.
April 8, 1935, the Board of Public Works passed a resolution to assess property owners $10 for the cost of installing the laterals. Under the old procedure, before the days of the WPA, sewers were laid when property owners, or a certain proportion of them on a street, made application. The cost of these sewers was paid, 75 per cent by the property owners affected and 25 per cent by the city. In addition the property owner paid the full cost of laterals connecting his property with the main sewer line. Under the present system the entire direct cost to the property owners is the $10 charge for the laterals.

Property owners who appeared and took part in the discussion Tuesday night were: J. Rodden, 148 Hudson street; R. J. Scott, 182 Third avenue; Joseph Bruck, 16 Hudson street; E. J. Ebel, 29 Roosevelt avenue; Miles J. Pollack, 25 Roosevelt avenue and David Petraski, 41 Hudson street.

Mr. Rodden explained that he had dug from the sewer line to the foundation of his house and laid the pipe and afterward had a plumber make the connection and Mr. Bruck said that the sewer ran close to the side of his property and no lateral was required.

Paid Plumber $40
Mr. Ebelheiser said that he had paid a plumber $40 for doing the work at his property and couldn't see why he should be asked to pay $10 more. He questioned whether the Board of Public Works was collecting a second time. He also said that some of his neighbors had received no bill as yet. Asked by Superintendent Conway whether the neighbors he referred to were hooked up to the sewer line, he said, "No."

To a question by Alderman Tremper as to what people did who were not connected with the sewer, Mr. Conway said that some people were still using septic tanks; no charge for sewer installation had been made against them yet. Answering a second question as to whether property owners had known that they were to be charged for laterals at the time the sewer was put in, he said that he thought not—that the sewer had been put in for their convenience.

Miles Pollack brought up the point that the cost of the sewer work had been included in the taxes; that it appeared to him that this $10 was an additional charge, which did not seem fair. President Schwenk called attention to the fact that the $10 charge was for the connection from the main line to the property and Mr. Conway added that the taxes covered the cost of laying the main sewer, that the laterals from the sewer to the property was an individual expense. He said that bills for this work were included in appropriations for emergency relief.

Republican Majority Votes Solidly to Adopt Proposed Budget—Vote is 20-6, Democrats Against It.

CHILD WELFARE

Child Welfare Board Gets No Money, Its Work Upheld by Democrats.

Considerable debate preceded the adoption of the budget for 1938 at the meeting of the board of supervisors Tuesday evening, but the budget was adopted by a vote of 20 to 6. The Republican members voted as a unit for the adoption of the budget and the Democratic members, six in number, voted against the adoption. Six Republican and one Democratic supervisors were absent.

One of the matters which was brought up by the Democratic members of the board was the amount of the budget, which Supervisor McDowell stated was "15 per cent greater than the budget of 1935."

When the matter of adoption of the budget was moved, Supervisor Osterhout, of Marbletown, Democrat, was the first to attack the budget. He called attention to the fact that there was not included in the budget any sum for the board of child welfare such as it had been customary to make. He said he understood that it had been decided in a council of the dominant party to abolish the board and to follow the plan suggested by County Welfare Commissioner Parks and Mayor Heilmann of Kingston. Mr. Osterhout said he had heard intimations that in order to get a 50 per cent reimbursement of the fund expended from the federal funds that this change was necessary. This fact he said evidently was not correct since the county had been participating in the fund since a resolution was adopted last May by the board to comply with the requirements and participate in the reimbursement. Since the county had participated in the reimbursement fund for the last several months he said this was an indication that it was not necessary to abolish the board of child welfare.

"I see no reason for elimination of this board," he said. He said it had been composed of socially minded people of the county who were interested in the work and the records showed that the board had functioned efficiently and in a capable manner. The members were appointed by the county judge whose record was unimpeachable. He referred to the request of Walter Seaman, chairman of the board, asking for an appropriation to carry on the work in 1938 and he said the board apparently was willing to continue its work.

Compelled to Vote "No"
Mr. Osterhout said in the budget it appeared that $22,342.90 was to be raised for dependent children. All Mr. Seaman asked was $22,000 which appeared to be less than the amount asked for by the new governing body. He said he would be compelled to vote "no" on the matter.

Supervisor Edwin Ashby stated that the matter had been fully explained in the letter of Mr. Park and Mayor Heilmann.

Supervisor McDowell, of Wawarink, said the minority party had no special "pick" on any item in the budget but he said as he saw it the new budget was really $173,986.91 more than last year. This was due he said to the difference in balances in 1937 and in 1936. The balance on November 1, 1936, he said had been $279,375.52 while the balance on November 1, 1937 was actually $424,084.17 a balance this year of $134,708.65 more than a year ago and to this could be added the apparent increase in the budget for 1938 over 1937 which made a total of $173,986.91 more to spend in 1938 than in 1937.

Several of the members of the majority party he said had told him they faced the worst winter of all this year. "In spite of this you are asking for an increase of $40,000." In the budget and he charged that this was done so that the county could go into next fall with a large balance so as to be able to present a small budget for adoption the following year.

Mr. McDowell also asked why the Board of Child Welfare was being abolished. He said there had been charges of the "National administration putting relief into politics" and he charged that this was being done here now. He said he could not support the budget as presented.

Cashdollar Explains
In reply Supervisor Cashdollar said that the sum of $23,000 as contained in the budget for dependent children did not repre-

Beats Dog to Death, Pays a Fine of $10

Fritz Hoyal, 85, who lives at the rear of the Urell Inn at Stony Hollow, evidently is not fond of dogs; in fact he admitted as much when arraigned before Justice John Watzka at East Kingston Sunday on a charge of cruelty to animals. Hoyal was charged with having beaten to death, with an iron bar, a young police dog belonging to a small son of James Kerr of Stony Hollow. He was found guilty of the charge and paid a fine of $10 and later paid another $10 to the owner of the dog.

According to the story told to Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne, the Kerr boy, with two companions, was skating on the old mill pond near Hoyal's place when the dog, only about three months old, ran on to Hoyal's land a short distance and Hoyal beat the animal to death with a bar.

The deputy said that when he went to serve a warrant against Hoyal the latter denied that he had killed the dog, but when the dead animal was found hidden under some lumber he admitted having killed it; said that he didn't want dogs on his property.

Stamps IN THE NEWS

By James B. Hatcher

About 500 years ago a Tokugawa shogun (dictator) closed Japan's doors to the world and her foreign shipping stopped. But for centuries before that, Japanese fishermen and delegates of the Daimyo (feudal lords) sailed extensively along the China coast. They even voyaged to Siam, Sumatra and Java.

In the earlier open-door days, the shogunate designated certain vessels (called go-shu-in-sen) as trading ships, and one of these is illustrated on the new 1/2-cent purple stamp issued by Japan November 1. These stamps, designed in the simplified manner of the Togo and Nogi adhesives, are surface printed at the Government Printing Bureau in Tokyo. They are watermarked vertical wavy lines and p.f. 13 x 13.

For "Winterhilfswerk"

More ship stamps are on the German list. Berlin has issued a set of nine "winter help" semi-postals with values of 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45 and 50 pfennigs, with designs as follows:

Three plus 2-pfennig dark brown, life boat; 4 plus 3-pf. black, the lightship Elbe 1; 5 plus 3-pf. yellow green, fishing smacks; 6 plus 4-pf. blue green, merchant ship; 7 plus 4-pf. orange, windjammer; 12 plus 6-pf. carmine lake, the Tannenberg; 15 plus 10-pf. violet brown, packed boat; 25 plus 15-pf. ultramarine, liner Hamburg; 40 plus 35-pf. red violet, the Bremen.

Another No. 594 Unused

Thirteen years ago the post-office department practiced an economy and produced a rarity. It took some coil waste in the form of rotary press printings of 1 and 2-centers, applied an 11 perforation and issued the result unannounced.

Collectors were caught napping for none noticed the combination of perf. 11 with rotary printing (producing a slightly larger stamp, horizontally longer in the case of the coil, than the flat press). They looked just like the ordinary perf. 10, or perf. 11 x 10 rotary press printings.

Today the 1-cent No. 594 is catalogued at $2,500 unused, the 2-cent at $15. About 50 cancelled copies of No. 594 have turned up (now catalogued $300) and very few unused—some say only two.

The eagle eye of a New York dealer, Max Wulson, spotted the first unused No. 594 on a postcard among some odds and ends offered for sale. The card had gone through the mail, but the cancellation had not hit the stamp. It was auctioned for $1,975 and later sold to a New York collector for $2,500.

This week another unused No. 594 is listed in the auction catalogue of Mr. Wulson's firm. This copy has a "W" through-perforation, supposedly the Westinghouse mark.

Chasey Raps Control Board

KINGSTON DISTRICT
NEW YORK CONFERENCE
Rev. Joseph W. Chasey
District Superintendent
Kingston, N. Y.
December 13, 1937

Editor, Freeman,
Kingston, N. Y.
My Dear Sir: I was interested to read the news item in your paper concerning the report of Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, which was published last Monday, and especially that part, which stated that there was a decided gain in favorable sentiment to the present state liquor law, and its administration. The part that tickles me most is to see it stated that this optimistic report comes from the A.B.C. itself. One might just as well have the students in our schools and colleges mark their own papers, and give their own grades. Why not have some disinterested parties give their opinions concerning the liquor law and its enforcement. I do not think it fair to the public, which has to do with the whole matter of the sale and consumption of alcoholic liquor, to let this report pass without a comment. In my humble judgment the conditions are very bad, and steadily growing worse. It is a mis-nomer to call the above board a control board, for as far as I can see, there is about as near no control as one could imagine. Liquor is being sold all through the day, and up to three o'clock in the morning, and longer doubtless in some places. Sunday that used to be sacred in this regard has now become the biggest day in some places. An open unobscured view is required of the bar, but it would take an X-ray to get a look into some of the saloons. Scores and signs of all kinds are placed in the front windows. I have seen a number of men recently stagger out of a saloon, and tumble into an automobile, and take the wheel to run along the highway where our children have to cross the street. Where does the control act come in.

My work as District Superintendent takes me to about one hundred towns, and to get home at night I often will come in after midnight. I pass scores of road houses, with large numbers of automobiles parked all along the roads, it is obvious that these automobiles will be driven home by men and often women, who will be more or less drunk. I was on my way from Palenville to Saugerties a few Sunday nights ago, when ahead of me I saw a truck load of cattle, weaving back and forth across the road. I finally thought that I had a good opportunity to pass, but as I did so I was forced down to the gutter by this weaving car, and barely missed being mashed up. I went on a little way, and looking back could see this same car moving back and forth across the highway. The next morning I read in the papers that a truck load of cattle, had run into the ditch and the cattle thrown out. This likely is the same case. When this case came up for trial, the man was acquitted of drunken driving, on the pretext, that it had not been proven that he was driving the car. On the witness stand he did not deny that he was driving the car, but he did deny that he was drunk. Something is "Rotten in Denmark." Last winter I was forced off the road by a car in which was four hunters. The car just missed me by a hair and a few yards back of me went into the ditch. The four men wearing red caps tumbled out of the car, and each could just stagger around. I halted, thinking to help, then it occurred to me that four drunken men, each with a gun in his hand, was no place for me. Who has rights in free America, the sober or the drunken. My experience has forced me to ask this question: Why is a Control Board, except to draw a fat salary.

The fat is in the fire. The people are waking from their slumber, they are beginning to realize that repeal is a gigantic hoax, a stupendous snare, and a delusion. We are talking about Social Security, and at the same time spending four billions dollars on the stuff, that causes more Social Insecurity, than any other factor. We can look in our city, and see examples of the ravages of alcoholic liquor, almost every day we see it. Often it is too personal and sad, yet the fact remains. When we really get the truth, even from the viewpoint of the much vaunted revenues, we are out dollars galore. When we see the moral degradation of the traffic, it is past comprehension. These lines are not written in the heat of passion. Neither do I have ought against any man, who is engaged in the liquor business. I would do anything I could to be friendly with such people. My position is this: My life is at stake along the highways, and also the lives of my family and friends. The well being of our country is impossible with the rising tide of liquor. We have a right to speak out. In fact we have been recreant to our duty all too long. The holy season of the celebration of the birth of Christ is very near, and what a travesty on that fair name of Christmas, to mention whisky as a celebrant!

G. O. P. MEN DISCUSS COMMITTEE MAKE-UP

Three members of the Republican National Committee are shown in a huddle at St. Louis, Mo., discussing the make-up of a steering committee of 100 for the party. Left to right: Robert Burroughs, New Hampshire; Harold W. Mason, Vermont; and Walter Hallahan, of West Virginia.

THOSE WHO LEAVE STATE MAY GET APPLICATIONS FOR AUTO PLATES EARLY

Albany, Dec. 10 — While applications for 1938 registration of motor vehicles will not be available until December 20 and the plates actually issued beginning January 3, car owners leaving the State before the former date may apply to the Director of any Issuing Office, explain their intended departure and obtain 1938 registration, according to a ruling today by Commissioner Charles A. Harnett.

"Even though 1937 registrations are valid for use during the entire month of January," the Commissioner said, "we feel that motorists leaving the State before or during the holiday period are entitled to this service."

It was pointed out that while this measure makes the plates available to those leaving the State at this time, it is not intended as an interference with Christmas expenditures or other holiday expense, but solely as an aid to those motorists who might be inconvenienced if they were forced to conduct registration transactions by mail.

WEST HURLEY

West Hurley, Dec. 14—The play entitled "Aunt Samantha Rules the Roost," given under the auspices of the Epworth League, was well attended by an appreciative audience. The play was of a humorous nature and the players received much applause. Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Green, of Kingston, and the Rev. W. A. Hudson and a group of young people from Woodstock. Also Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Meyer, of Hurley.

Wednesday evening, December 15, the Epworth League will present their play in the A. B. Church Hall at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

Thursday evening the mid-week service will be held at 7:30 o'clock followed by a rehearsal of the Christmas music. It is desired that all taking part in the singing be present.

On Sunday morning the pastor will deliver his Christmas message. The subject will be "Why They Sang." This is one of the great services of the church's year and all members of the congregation are urged to be present.

The annual Christmas exercises of the Sunday School will be held on Sunday evening, December 23. Further details, including the program, will be published later.

SOUTHBURY SURE ZONING CODE WILL HALT NAZIS

Southbury, Conn., Dec. 15 (AP)—Southbury citizens weren't quite sure today how the zoning code would affect them personally but were pretty certain it would halt plans of the German-American Bund to establish a camp in the Kettletown district.

The town was divided into four zones restricted to various uses. Kettletown is now in an area restricted to farms and residences. The regulations also forbid "military drilling with or without arms" except by federal or state military forces within the town limits.

The zoning law was adopted 142 to 91 at town meeting yesterday.

The act needs to be changed "so that both parties to collective bargaining—employers as well as employees—will get a square deal," he said in an address to the Illinois Manufacturers Association.

LESS RELIEF CHEATING

Relief "chiseling" is probably not so bad today as many critics think. In one of the big industrial cities, with a huge relief list,
a check-up has just been made covering 20,000 cases. The work was done by a big national credit company which regularly serves business concerns and employs carefully trained investigators.
The job cost $28,000. The probers, after long and careful inquiry, sifted out 400 relief beneficiaries clearly shown to be cheating, and those cases were promptly discontinued, at a saving of $24,000. The chiselers numbered 2 per cent.

There was a slight loss, as anyone can see, on that operation.
It would not pay to make such a special investigation to weed out a smaller percentage. So from now on, the relief organization involved expects to depend on its regular procedure. Like most public relief organizations, it has now developed a system which makes it much harder than it used to be for applicants not needing relief to get away with it. As the public grows aware of these more effective methods of investigation and check-up, fewer people try to fool the investigators.

PAYING UP FOR MARINES

The U. S. Marines have "kept the peace" in a good many foreign lands in years past. But boys will be boys, and sometimes these representatives of law and order have indulged in a little private rough-housing which was annoying to natives and embarassing to Uncle Sam.

The other day a former President of Nicaragua and Minister to Washington delivered to his government a United States Treasury check for damages incurred during the occupation by United States Marines more than fifteen years ago. The largest item covered was destruction of the offices of a newspaper whose editor had printed some uncomplimentary remarks about the Marines. Just what happened thereafter is not revealed at this time, but apparently damages were sought and have now been paid.

Americans should be thankful
that the Leathernecks are no longer sent out on every occasion
to do police duty for other governments or American interests abroad. Most of them have been brought back to this country,
where they will be in readiness to protect it against foreign invasion
or perform any necessary duty.
As maintainers of peace for shaky
foreign powers they caused too much ill-feeling and distrust.

THEY NEED YOUR HELP.

Christmas holidays are "just around the corner." The yuletide spirit reigns supreme. Mistletoe, holly and the pungent
fresh greenness of new-born Christmas trees will soon cheer millions of homes. Shop windows, check full of all sorts of tempting gifts, bedecked with tinsel and trimmings, are exciting
portents of the fun to come.

With the approach of the holiday season, the public is afforded opportunity to join effectively and in the true spirit of Christmas by aiding the local Christmas Cheer Committee in their efforts to see that every local child has a Merry Christmas and in purchasing Christmas seals to fight tuberculosis. Both of these drives appear at this time of the year
almost as magically as Santa Claus himself and are equally as indispensable as agents of good cheer.
Don't neglect either of them.
They need your help, as do the souls less fortunate than yourself whom these workers represent and whom they strive each year to bring within the great fold of gaiety which envelopes

the nation during the Christmas season.

MONEY FOR PLEASURE.

It is a curious fact of the present business recession that it has not yet affected the amusement field. In a large industrial city where new lay-offs and shutdowns might be expected to discourage spending for pleasure, the theaters and ice rinks and symphony concerts and boxing matches are all enjoying unusually generous patronage.

The Automobile Show broke all records for attendance. In a number of recent stagings—one a play, another a piano recital by an artist—standing room was sold and many patrons were turned away. Conventions which have exceeded their own attendance expectations. There are as yet no cancellations of reservations for a large convention to be held in January.

All this leads observers to conclude that in most people the recession is "only a recess." They have confidence that the worst is not about to happen, that business will begin going ahead again
soon. Perhaps they are right.

That Body of Yours

DENTIST HELPS PHYSICIAN

The day has fortunately gone
by when a physician after viewing
the X-ray films will send the patient to the dentist to have certain teeth removed. Sometimes the physician, in looking for the cause of rheumatism, heart disease, or stomach ulcer, had the teeth X-rayed first, and if there was any root abscess present he considered that the cause of the ailment, and had the tooth or teeth extracted. The dentist, believing that the physician had made a thorough examination of the entire body and finding the teeth to be the only cause, was willing to remove the tooth or teeth.

Fortunately physicians now make a thorough examination for infection everywhere, including the teeth, and are in a better position to give advice regarding the teeth.

Fortunately also the dentist does not calmly remove teeth without being assured by the physician that all other sources of infection have been investigated.
And even when all other sources
have been investigated the dentist does not agree to the removal of the teeth unless he feels absolutely certain that the suspected teeth could be sending infection into the blood. There are no teeth like your own teeth and your dentist naturally wants to preserve them for you.

Personally I am a great believer
in the removal of infected teeth. I have had three attacks of relapsing fever over a period of 20 years. The pain in all three attacks disappeared within 48
hours after removal of two teeth
from the first attack, the tonsils for the second attack, and two more teeth for the third attack. And every physician has patients where the removal of infected teeth has brought prompt and startling results.

Fortunately the dentist of today with his knowledge of the body, and of dental infection, is equipped to discuss the probable effect of this dental infection in causing general symptoms and trouble in different parts of the body.

Dr. W. A. W. Whitelaw, Vancouver, B. C., in an address before the Vancouver Dental Society, stated: "The more important and common types of diseases and conditions concerning the physician in which the dentist is called upon in removing can be classified under the following headings:
(1) eye conditions; (2) diseases of the nervous system; (3) diseases of the heart; (4) diseases of the stomach and intestines; (5) joint conditions; (6) kidney and bladder infections."

DARE TO DREAM

BY ALICE MARIE DODGE

The Characters
Nelda, a beautiful, courageous girl, with dark eyes and hair, is forced to sacrifice her personal ambitions, and run a ranch.
Bill is a tanned, blue-eyed, lettuce farmer. Sparks fly when he and Nelda meet.
Reck, blond, gay and dashing,
is a wealthy neighbor.
Mrs. Reckless, Reck's cold and erratic mother, subtly earns Nelda that Reck is not for her.
Leila, Nelda's selfish sister-in-law.

Chapter Eight

Visitors

"How much—" Again Nelda
was reduced to blushing confusion. It was embarrassing to ask Bill how much he would charge to
"plough."
"I estimate my prices by the time it takes for the work," he said quickly.

"Yes—oh, yes!" She hated herself for letting this man see so clearly into her mind.

"Did you walk down here?" he asked.

She nodded.

"Want me to run you home?"

"I prefer to walk."

The way she said it left the impression that she wanted none of him or his old wreck of a car, but she was really taking out her annoyance at herself upon him. The last look she'd noticed the first time she saw him appeared in his eyes. She wanted to apologize, but words wouldn't come. Then she saw his lips harden and he said curtly:

"Tomorrow morning then."

He had returned to some place within himself where she could not follow. She was being dismissed. Whirling, she walked swiftly out of the yard.

"Who does he think he is?" she asked herself pettishly.

She had scarcely reached home
when Reck drove into the yard
and stopped with a flourish.

"You've simply got to install a telephone here," he said without preface as he got out of the car.

"I told you I can't afford one."

She felt heat running through her veins. Was her reduced circumstances going to hit her in the face
at every turn?

"I'll pay for it each month if you'll have one put in," he offered impulsively, and looked on when he saw the horrified look on her face. "Don't throw me out! I didn't mean—"

"Don't ever say anything like that again," she ordered. "Why, I hardly know you."

"That's the trouble! I want to know you better. I'd like to call you up about 10 times a day."

"I'm going to be too busy running this ranch to spend much time at the telephone."

He laughed heartily.

"Running this ranch?" He went off into another gale of mirth.

"What's so funny?" she demanded angrily.

"You tell Farmer!"

Farmer! That was the way she thought of Bill Langdon. But was Bill a farmer? There were many things about him that suggested he'd been different once.

Reck patted her arm with a conciliatory gesture.

"You're nice people, no matter what you are."

"Are you trying to sweep me off my feet with compliments?" she asked tartly, still burning under his ridicule.

"I'd like to sweep you off your feet all right. His engaging grin melted her anger.

"You're incorrigible, Reck."

"I went to the game yesterday and I saw some of the people you know—Claire Best . . . Jewel Campbell . . . Harvey Bennett . . .
Val Curtis and several others.
They all inquired about you."

Invite Me To The Party?

The mention of those names brought a sudden pang of memory to Nelda. She had never missed a football game with the group he'd mentioned while she was at Stanford. She drew a mental picture of their activities yesterday. Roaring for their team until they were hoarse . . . wisecracks flying back and forth between them like sparks from a third rail
 . . . piling into their automobiles
and speeding to some interesting restaurant to lash over the game
 . . . the post mortem, they called it.

"They're going to visit you some week-end," Reck's gay, young voice broke into her reflections.

Nelda didn't want her friends to visit her in the old house.

"When they come I'd like to be invited to the party, too," he went on.

She wondered why he didn't invite them to his own home. The answer came on the heels of the question. Mrs. Reckless didn't want them. Such parties might interfere with her plans for Reck.

There are new developments with

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christmas party on Saturday evening, December 18, at the home of Mrs. Pomroy. All those who attend are requested to

is not to exceed 10 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yake motored body welcome.

Next Sunday at the M. E.

the afternoon, the Sunday school will hold their Christmas exercises. An interesting program has been prepared and a cordial invitation is extended to all those

NOTHING MUCH LEFT BUT THE RIND

By BRESSLER

Ramblin' Notes About the Town

Kingston's business sections are thronged with shoppers bent on purchasing their Christmas gifts, and here and there a Santa Claus may be seen ambling in and out of stores. One little chap about four years old who clung to his mother's hand said "Golly Ma but Santa Claus must move awful quick for first you see him here
and then there, but he don't always look alike. How's that Ma?"

The question propounded by the little chap to his mother is one which many parents are hearing these days from their children,
and an apt answer is the old legend of Santa Claus. If memory serves correctly the legend went somewhat in this wise: It seems that long ago Santa Claus began to feel the pangs of old age growing on him and he knew that his days were numbered.

Santa Claus had performed a wonderful work for many years
bringing joy to the hearts of millions of children, and now he felt that he must lay down his burden.
He called together a council of his assistants and told them that it was only a question of time
when he would be unable to travel
throughout the world on Christmas Day. The journey was becoming longer and longer and the number of children who looked forward to his visit had increased in leaps and bounds.

"There is only one thing that can be done," observed Santa Claus
"and that is when I am forced to give up the work that all of you must take over the job and help shoulder the burden."

Santa Claus suggestion met with a hearty response and that is why today there are so many different Santa Clauses to be seen on the streets around the Christmas season. They are all helpers of old Mr. Santa Claus who long ago passed to his reward. Not only do those who have taken over Santa Claus's burden wear
his distinctive uniform but there are millions of others who wear
the image of Santa Claus in their hearts and see to it that the day
is properly observed for the children.

In Kingston Santa Claus's main helpers are the citizens of the city who are cooperating with the Christmas Cheer Committee, both by gifts of toys, candy, fruit, but also of cash donations. The committee needs about $1,500 to carry on its work and this money is expended not for toys—for all toys have been contributed—but is spent in the purchase of warm articles for children and other articles for children to wear to keep them warm and healthy during the winter.

It is the hope that on Christmas Day the holiday joy may fill each home in the city. As you plan for bringing a happy Christmas to your children you should not forget the children of those who are not as fortunate financially as yourself. No one would wish to see any child jump out of bed
bright and early on Christmas Day and run to see what the patron saint had placed in the stocking, only to find the stocking empty and no signs that Santa Claus had visited the home.

There is no sadder or more pathetic sight in the world than that of the child who has been forgotten by Santa Claus.

COUNTY Christian Endeavor NEWS

County Appointments.
The regular meeting of the executive board of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union was held Monday evening at the home of President Frances K. Roosa at New Paltz.

Appointments to the various committees necessary for county work were made. The junior superintendent for 1938 will be Edna Davis. Henry P. Eighmey will have charge of publicity, and the Rev. Vernon Nagel will conduct the "Quiet Hour" program. A "place committee" to arrange for the annual banquet
to be held on February 4, was made up of Dora Pratt, Henry P.
Eighmey and Nelson Lewis, and a bid for entertaining this annual event was received from the Albany Avenue Baptist Church.
Milton Townsend and the Rev.
B. R. Branson were given the task of procuring the speaker for the banquet.

A recreation committee was also named by President Roosa, with Dora Pratt as general chairman; Donald H. Smith, Zella Pollette and John Snyder in charge of plays; Douglas Kennedy, Jack Wood and Betty Holmes, music; Lee Powell, Edna Holmes and Myron Roak, games; and Pearl Howard, Mary Langwick and Edna Davis, refreshments. It was decided to hold a county social about the middle of February, with the above mentioned committee and sub-committees in charge.

A devotion committee, to have charge of at least one service every other month at some different church, consists of Henry P. Eighmey, Nelson Lewis,
Helen Bleeker and the Rev. C. L.
Brown. Tentative plans call for the first of such meetings to be held at the Reformed Church of the Comforter on Sunday evening, January 20. All Endeavorers in the county are invited to this service, and definite plans will be announced later. The treasurer's report showed the finances of the County Union to be in good condition. Present arrangements call for monthly get-togethers sponsored by the County Union—one month it will take the form of a social, while the next month will be a union church service. It was decided to eliminate the usual Christmas party

due to the many activities in the several churches.

Candlelight Service.
The usual Sunday evening service of the New Paltz Christian Endeavor Society will not be held this week. The members of the group are to attend a candlelight service in the auditorium of the Reformed Church. Last Sunday's topic was, "What Does It Mean to be a Christian in Comradeship?" and the leader, Marie Jenkins.

Bethany's Program
The Bethany Chapel group are planning a full Yuletide season,
beginning with a Christmas pageant, "The Enchanted Candle,"
by Verna Whitney, which will be given on Christmas Eve. A party will be held Wednesday evening, December 23, with the Ponchockie Congregational group as guests. The combined Junior and Senior groups will form a choir
for the Sunday evening church service, and the Junior Endeavorers will hold their meeting Monday evening to carry on the work of making calendars for the new year.

Comforter Pageant
The Comforters will present their annual pageant on Sunday evening, December 26, in the church auditorium. At the business meeting held Friday evening, Henry P. Eighmey, Jack Wood, Zella Pollette, and Beatrice Powell were appointed to direct-ship of the pageant. The first rehearsal will be held tonight, and will be followed by a second one on Friday evening. The annual Christmas basket will be given to a needy family. A Christmas party followed the regular business meeting, and gifts were exchanged. The regular Sunday evening prayer meeting will be held at the usual hour of 7:15 o'clock in the meeting room.

Wurts Street Discussion
"What Makes Life Worth Living," was the topic discussed by the Wurts Street Baptist Society
Sunday evening under the leadership of Virginia Van de Mark.
The Rev. C. E. Brown told the story of the man who managed to spread good cheer by the publication of poems and stories, even though the writer was suffering from tuberculosis and was thus handicapped in his endeavors.
This story was an illustration of how much could be done and life could be made worth living even though a person was limited in his powers.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Angelos Metaxas,
the Greek brandy king, was trying to score up a ticket to the opera. It was just a few days before the opening, and the man whose family has dominated Athenian distilleries for 50 years
was determined, if possible, to obtain one of those little squares of cardboard which admit the bearer
to the sanctum of the Golden Horseshoe.

"I have never missed an opening while in New York," he explained.
"and I don't want to begin now.
But I don't know what luck I shall have about those tickets. I have been telephoning friends since my boat got in, in which was only a short while ago, but as yet I haven't had much luck."

Mr. Metaxas clamped an implacable hold on his monocle and sank back into an ivory-colored upholstered chair. He had been in his suite at the Ambassador less than four hours but he was as thoroughly at home as he could ever be anywhere—even by his fireside on the Hellenic peninsula.

"BUT I've got to get to the opera,"
he reiterated.

There are several reasons why
M. Metaxas was anxious to attend that ebullient opening. He himself a patron of opera, and has indulged this happy diversion in many old world cities. Then, too,
there is the matter of a new Greek baritone which the Met has acquired this season, and M. Metaxas wanted to be on hand to cheer his countryman. Too, he had a certain altruistic reason for wanting to become a part of the occasion.

M. Metaxas is vice president of the Greek national committee of the International Chamber of Commerce. His mission in America this time will occupy some six months, as it does every year, but before he leaves he will thoroughly investigate the possibilities of displaying his brandies at the New York World's Fair in 1939.

"GREECE, she is poor," explained M. Metaxas, "but she is flowing with milk and honey—
the milk of human kindness for everybody, including our ancient enemies, the Turks. As for the money, we have adopted the bee
as our guide—all Greeks everywhere are busy."

A jangling telephone cut him off. He seized the receiver and spoke hopefully into the mouthpiece: "Hello? Yes?" . . . There was a pause, and M. Metaxas shoulders sagged, as if he had been dealt a body blow. He replaced the receiver and turned with a sadly resigned expression on his once joyful countenance.

"It is the bad news, but definitely," he sighed. "My friend tells me
there is no opera ticket."

Top Notch in Christopher's ear.

But Santa did not seem to hear Top Notch. Instead he said to Christopher:

"That would be kind of you."

"And I'm really a good crow," repeated Christopher. "By the way, Santa, don't you think that the silver paper that you sometimes tie around your Christmas presents is very pretty?"

"Of course he thinks so, or he wouldn't use it," said Top Notch.

"I had an idea," Christopher continued, casting a quick, hard look at Top Notch, "that if you had any left over it would make my nest look so 'Christmasy'—if I could line it with such paper. Of course I only meant if you had any left over."

"Of course that was all you meant," chuckled Top Notch.

"I understand," smiled Santa.

"If you don't get started with the sugar I'll take it," barked Rip.

"Both of you take the sugar,"
suggested Willy Nilly.

"We're good ducks. What may we do?" quacked Mrs. Quacko.

"I'll follow goodness anywhere," bleated Sweet Face, and they all laughed. Maybe Santa would see through them!

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—When Sonja Henie has gone to lunch, when the ice ballet and the crew have deserted the sound stage and rink, Eddie Hoffman steps from the sidelines into purposeful art.

You wouldn't pick Eddie from the laboring crowd as an unique fellow, but he is. He's this town's one and only ice-hole flier.

In the temporarily deserted stage Eddie puts on skates, takes a fall cup full of water in his hand, and steps on the rink, master of all he surveys. For his own satisfaction and as a non-utilitarian flourish any man might give to his job, he executes a few turns and whirls around the rink. Then, perhaps realizing that (unlike Miss Henie) he is a lone skater whirling in the wilderness, he starts to work.

Eddie At Work
He skims over the ice, bending low and scanning the skate-scattered surface. Here is an immense rink stretching the length of the stage, pitted and scarred by the art of Sonja and her ballet. It is Eddie's job to see that all these miniature craters are filled and smoothed by the time Sonja returns from lunch.

Moving himself slowly in a crouching position, Eddie carefully measures out a tiny stream of water into the first hole. His manner is that of an analytical chemist pouring drops of precious chemical into a test tube. He knows just the right amount to pour. Because water expands in volume as it freezes, he does not fill to the top, nor does he put in too little. . . . In half an hour his work is done. Then he sits on the sidelines, looking rapidly at the rink as though he can actually hear the water freeze into ice.

Eddie At Play
Later three men with scrapers appear and add the final smoothing touches. But by now Eddie Hoffman has gone—as though watching such crude labor were beneath him. What happens to Eddie the rest of the day is not reported. But just before 6 o'clock, when the company is ready to leave for the day, he can be seen loitering around the rink. He waits until everyone has gone, and then, skates on his feet and cup in hand, he again demonstrates his art.

Deanna Durbin is being directed by Norman Taurog, instead of Henry Kostner, in "Mad About Music." Kostner made her first two films, and was sought for the third. But he wants to demonstrate what he can do in a picture minus the child wonder.

Interlocutory Decree
An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted by Justice Sobeloff in the matter of Peter Desco against Louise T. Desco. Flanagan & Kaecher appeared for plaintiff. Married October 25, 1926, the couple resided for a time at Saugerties. The last address of the defendant was 137 Montgomery street, Newburgh, where the plaintiff charges his wife had been residing with Jewel Nicholson. Since 1933 the defendant has not resided with her husband and the complaint alleged that she is the mother of a two year old child.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Recent Activities At Normal School

New Palitz, Dec. 14.—The Kindergarten Primary's eleventh annual candle-light service was held Monday afternoon in the music room in the Training School. This custom, one of the most impressive of the New Palitz Christmas traditions, is the outgrowth of the Kindergarten Primary Club. When the club was disbanded, this was the activity which the members requested to be carried on. Just as darkness began to fall the visitors were ushered slowly into the music room which was aglow with candles, singing that beautiful carol "Adeste Fideles" or "Come, All Ye Faithful," then followed the program of carols including "Hark! The Herald Angels," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "The First Noel," "Deck the Halls," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," and many others were sung. Members of the Glee Club and chorus were assigned to give volume to the carolers. A tiny member of the Kindergarten sang Luther's Cradle Song, there were also other soloists, the entire audience then left the room singing "Silent Night" and assembled into the Kindergarten room and gathered around the wassail bowl. A cheery fireplace and a sparkling Christmas tree made the festive background for the refreshments and social hour that followed.

The Country Life Club held its meeting and Christmas party in the gymnasium Thursday night. Gifts were exchanged and were later left under the tree and will be distributed to needy children for Christmas presents. The committee who had charge of the party were: Tree committee: Lee McCreary, chairman, K. Hasbrouck, H. Vares and M. Monroe; Decorations for tree: Margaret Frost, chairman, Olga Schleele, Shirley Squier, Genevieve Wilcox and Ginger Duffy; Games: Gladys Haughton, chairman, Claire Israel, H. Stanton and Cora Lund; Song leaders: Abe Rosenthal, chairman, Edna Kempshall and Pat Claus; Advertisement: Muriel Trebay, chairman, Barbara Bassett and Frederica Vermilyea; Refreshments: Helen Engle, chairman, Lillian Krouck, Evelyn Van Steenburg, Florence Underhill and Evelyn Judson. The Country Life Club will sponsor a second Christmas party on Thursday, December 16, at 11:15 o'clock. The faculty students of the Normal and children of the Practice School are invited and asked to bring a small gift of not more than 10 cents, the other non-perishable food. These donations are to be given to the New Palitz Christmas Committee, who will distribute them to needy families. The New Palitz Normal band will furnish the music for the grand march at which time the gifts will be deposited in the gymnasium. The remaining part of the hour will be given over to singing Christmas carols accompanied by the band.

The sororities of the normal school are having Christmas teas on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and will be held in the social room at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, Miss Edna B. Taylor and Miss Gertrude M. Thompson advisers of Pi Sigma Lambda and Agonion respectively are pouring with Eleanor Young, Kathryn Bell, Elizabeth McDougall, Ruth Finley, Ann Callahan, Elaine Sulzbacher, Edna Kempshall, Hazel Montgomery, Cynthia Veith, Mae Chardavoyne, Marguerite Garrison, Gertrude Brion, Vera Racine, Kern, and Betty Coulter, assisting

Another count against needless smoke in cities is brought by Pittsburgh doctors in a report to the American Health Association. They say smoke carries pneumonia germs. When high winds prevail, blowing smoke quickly away from the city, there follows a period of less pneumonia. Calm days, in smoky cities, are likely to be followed about 15 days later by a rise in pneumonia.

Protests Against Price Fixing by Coal Commission

The recent action of the National Bituminous Coal Commission in issuing price-fixing orders has given rise to protests which are likely to lead to a test case in the U. S. Supreme Court. The Carter Coal Co., whose suit resulted in the Court's invalidation of the original Guffey Coal Act, has filed formal protest with the Coal Commission against price scales established in three areas. At the same time the railroads have asked for a delay in the new price scales as affecting them, claiming that they will add $20,000,000 to their already heavy burden of expenses. Expense of the rise in industry as a whole is estimated at from $40,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year.

Carriers yesterday concluded presentation of their evidence in support of a 15 per cent freight rate raise and the ICC hearings were adjourned until December 23.

Railroad officials in Washington express the belief that an upturn is near in the freight car loadings index. Although there will be lower loadings during the coming weeks, due to seasonal decline in traffic, they believe that the index, on a seasonal basis, has reached its lowest point.

ICC reports show net operating income in October for 141 Class I railroads of $60,747,446 compared with $69,809,373 a year ago.

Two drastic plans for reorganization of the Chicago & North Western Railway will be filed today with the ICC. A creditor plan, prepared by large insurance and savings bank groups, would give preferred and common stockholders nothing for their holdings. The plan prepared by the debtor-management, would give present bondholders non-cumulative income bearing bonds only.

With the largest cotton crop in history, it is announced that the Commodity Credit Corp. and the RFC soon will make public a program constituting a reversal of original Administration plans. The CCC will not resume its loan option disposal program in January as had been contemplated, and will be forced to ask the RFC for additional advances to finance the increased loans indicated by the latest cotton crop estimates.

When the disposal program was discontinued last summer the corporation had on hand something like 1,600,000 bales of cotton. It is stated that up to last Friday the CCC had acquired around 3,500,000 bales as security for loans totaling $153,422,513. In addition a considerable portion of the crop it is said is being financed privately, with a possibility that in the spring these private loans may be taken over by the Government.

Trading was relatively dull yesterday, with a 900,000 share total. Industrials, off most of the day, closed with a gain of 0.67 point on the Dow-Jones average to 123.50; rails were unchanged at 31.30; utilities showed a slight loss, closing at 21.35. Wheat was relatively firm, cotton steady, rubber easier.

National Tea's sales for four weeks ended December 4 were off 10.3 per cent from a year ago. Bookings of Mengel Co. for November showed a drop of 63.4 per cent from a year ago.

Electric Bond & Share has asked a review by the Supreme Court of the constitutionality of the Utilities Holding Co. Act.

Bancamerica-Blair, Reynolds Spring and Boston & Providence Railroad took no action on dividends.

Dividends—extra, special, year-end and final—announced include: Detroit Edison, $2; National Steel, 50 cents; Howe Sound, 75 cents; American Metal, $1.75 on common vs. previous payments of 25 and 50 cents; American Brake Shoe & Foundry, $1.40 on common vs. preceding payment of 75 cents; Western Electric, dividend of 90 cents on common vs. previous payments this year of 60 and 75 cents.

Vice-president Ayres of Cleveland Trust Co. predicted bottom of business slump in first half of 1938, with stock price average at the 1935-36 level—Federal Reserve index of industrial production near 90 and automobile production 25 to 30 per cent under present levels. He urged repeal of corporate surtaxes, Administration peace treaty with utilities and higher freight rates for rails.

The beautiful liturgical form was employed as a natural and proper expression of her faith and devotion to Christ and His church. She pledged her allegiance to the church in the days of her youth, and remained a consistent and consecrated member until the last. Mrs. Snyder was not only faithful in attendance upon the means of grace, but was active in the Bible School, Missionary Society, Ladies' Aid and in every endeavor to advance the interests of the kingdom. Her departure leaves a vacancy in the working force that will be difficult to fill. Any attempt at an appraisal:

SUFFRAGISTS HOLDING REUNION AT CAPITAL

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Women who picketed the White House and went to jail for women's suffrage 20 years ago held their first reunion in the capital today to organize a campaign for passage of an "equal rights" amendment.

Attending the biennial conference of the National Woman's Party, delegates who had been in jail were recognizable by "prison pins" given them for "distinguished service" in the war-time crusade for women's right to vote.

Their leader in a jail experience "confession" symposium was Betty Gram Swing of New York who was jailed five times and who had been on hunger strikes twice. Other women wearing prison pins were Mrs. Amelia Hines Walker of Baltimore, Elsie Hill of Washington and Mrs.

Florence Bayard Hill of near Wilmington, Del.

Important Scout Meeting on Friday At Phoenicia Hotel

Phoenicia, Dec. 14.—One of the most enthusiastic and largest attended meetings of the Western District of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, took place in the Central Hotel at Phoenicia on Friday night.

Some 40 men were present from all parts of the District and every troop was represented by one or more officials.

After a delightful dinner service by proprietor William Blinn chairman Schwarzwaelder called the meeting to order and asked that a review of the year of 1937 take place. In this review report of the finance campaign was made showing that progress was being made although at this date they were short a little under $100 on the total for the district.

The Court of Honor for December was announced to take place in the Hall at West Shokan on Friday evening, December 17, at which time the awards would be made in the various ranks and the pictures of the National Jamboree shown.

In discussing the membership progress of the year it was shown that the district added two units during the year and some 20 additional Scouts bringing the total membership up to 84, the highest in the history of the Western District.

It was pointed out also that the figure of 82 represented the highest percentage of any district in the council.

A brief announcement was made regarding the 4-A award and several expressed their interest in it.

In discussing the year of 1938 most of the troops of the district agreed to participate in the annual meeting of the council on January 19, also the Anniversary birthday party on February 5, and a committee of representatives from the various sections of the district with Edward West of Alban as chairman was appointed to arrange for a special Sunday service on February 6, at which time all the troops of the western district would unite.

The western district went on record as in favor of having the next Camp-o-ree at Kingston such as was held last June.

In discussing the training work for leaders and committeemen it was announced the first session would take place on Friday, January 7, place to be selected.

There was further discussion regarding some of the needs of the western district in order that the troop work might be made more effective. Many men expressed their opinions and offered suggestions.

The final item of business of the evening was the election of the officers for the ensuing year as follows:

Chairman, S. B. Schwarzwaelder of Chichester; vice-chairman, Fred D. Cure, of Pine Hill; commissioner, Charles H. Weidner, of West Shokan; representatives on the Executive Board, Messrs. Schwarzwaelder, Cure, Cruickshank and Breithaupt.

Scout Officials Held Meetings

For two weeks the scout officials of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, have had their series of annual district meetings, reviewing the work of 1937 and making plans for 1938.

The review of 1937 shows one of the greatest years in the history of the council both in activity and increase in membership. Throughout the field special activities are taking place at this time as many of the troops are preparing to assist in rendering good turn service at Christmas time.

In making their plans for the annual meeting of the council, which takes place in Kingston in the Gov. Clinton Hotel on Wednesday, January 19, over 50 of the various units will participate by having a boy represent them at the pageant of troops.

In making plans for the 28th anniversary of scouting intensive preparations are being made for the observance of Scout Sunday on February 6, some communities having union services and others individual service, and most of the troops will celebrate anniversary night on February 8 with birthday parties, at which time not only the troop but parents and friends of scouts will participate. In many of the communities a special community good turn will take place on Saturday, February 12, and each district will have a district court of honor.

The first training conference for the men in Greene county takes place Saturday, January 22, and will be held in the high school at Cairo, while the Ulster county session will take place in Kingston on January 29.

The dates for the annual Camp-o-ree were set for June 3, 4 and 5, place to be announced shortly.

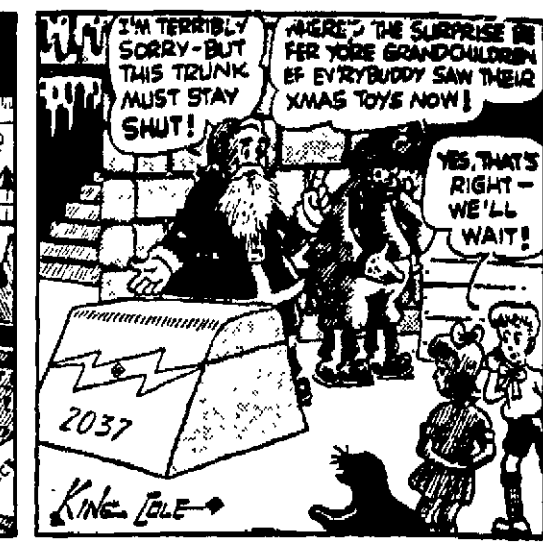

Plans for the operation of Camp Half Moon, the summer camp, will be announced very shortly after the camp committee of the council has an opportunity to set the dates and discuss other items.

The scout officials of the council feel that the year of 1937 will no doubt be a greater year than 1937 and are making plans to reach a larger number of boys in the days ahead through its program of troop activity, farm or neighborhood patrols, and lone scouting, so that boys of matter where they live may have the opportunity of being members of the Boy Scouts of America.

HEM AND AMY

IN THE DOGHOUSE

By Frank H. Beck

THE STORY SO FAR:
A sailor doll, who is attempting to rescue Helga, one of Santa's dolls, from a white fox is held in a squirrel village because the squirrels want his help for a son that was bewitched.

CHAPTER 15

A USEFUL COMPANION

By this time it is easy to see that the sailor had some problems on his hands.

He was supposed to be hunting for Helga who had been stolen by the white fox. He had angered an earthworm and the Woods Fairy by playing a trick on them to get the magic acorn.

He had wanted the acorn to help the squirrel that had swollen to the size of an elephant. Then what happened? The squirrel shrunk to the size of a house fly.

"Well, well, a pretty kettle of fish," thought the sailor. He left the squirrel village and walked over to his boat to run up the sails. Of course, all the while he did he watched the squirrels to see if they would stop him, as they had before.

They followed him to his boat, but they only watched him silently. The old gentleman squirrel spoke:

"Sailor, we know you couldn't help it that our boy grew too sailor. "I don't know where to look for that white fox. You're blowing me west. Maybe I should be going east."

The North Wind stopped dead in his tracks. "That's right," he said. "Let me see. The North Star promised to be a guide. I'll call him."

So the North Wind puffed and howled, and up the sky came the North Star like a ribbon of blue-white light.

"Yes, I heard," the star panted. "I'm going right on. You stay here, and I'll be back as soon as I get some clue." He whizzed off toward the horizon.

Tomorrow: Into The Den!

Don't Disappoint Our Children

Editor, The Freeman:

There is no one living this Christmas—or any other—who is childless. Nearly two thousand years ago the message was sent forth "For unto US A CHILD is born," and that "US" has ever since included the people living on this earth. How that changes the thought of Christmas, as we know that the little Christ Child is OUR child.

Then is there one of us too poor to fail to give a little mite or as much as we can to help make this Christmas a merry and surely a comfortable Christmas to every child in our city? Surely not.

The toys that will be given out to the children of US this year have all been very literally GIVEN. But there is serious need for warm clothing for so many children, and there is not yet enough money to provide that warm clothing. It will be easily possible for that clothing to be purchased if each one of us gives even a little money—say the price of one movie—and gives it right away.

And no one can afford to let any one of our children be disappointed on Christmas, 1937. If we ourselves expect to have a merry, let alone a happy Christmas.

Please, Kingston folk, in the name of the Christ Child, give what you can for these children of today, who belong peculiarly to our city and to us, and send your gift at once to the Mayor's Christmas Cheer Committee, City Hall, Kingston, N. Y., or leave your gift of money at the city hall yourself.

Many Cases Here Of Scarlet Fever During November

That scarlet fever was prevalent in Kingston during November was shown by the report of Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, submitted at the monthly meeting of the board of health on Tuesday evening. The total number of cases reported that month was 16, as compared with eight cases reported in November of last year. Dr. Sanford also reported 42 cases of chickenpox, 17 cases of pneumonia, and seven cases of measles in the city during the last month.

While more communicable diseases were reported this November as compared with November of last year, the deaths in the city for last month numbered 36. There was one less birth reported this November as compared with the same month last year, this year there being 62 births in the city as compared with 63 births in November of 1936.

The report, Miss Mildred Schwab, registrar, showed that there had been only one death in a child under a year in age, and that the highest number of deaths—11—were between the ages of 60 and 70 years. There was one death of a person over 90 years of age, and six deaths of those between the ages of 70 and 80, and four between the ages of 80 and 90.

Dr. Philip Foley, meat inspector, reported the number of inspections he had made.

Dr. Harold Clarke, milk inspector, reported inspecting 40 milk dairies and 12 farm producers and examining 37 head of cattle in addition to making tests of milk sold in the city.

Plumbing Inspector Charles H. Gregory reported receiving two plans for work in new buildings and nine for work in present buildings. He also reported on inspections made.

Sanitary Inspector Melville reported on inspections made of the business places in the city.

The report of the bureau of child hygiene showed that the infant welfare study was now in its 10th month and up to the first of the month 315 infants had been included in the survey. Of these six were stillbirths and four were infant deaths.

Sanitary Inspector John Melville, who the first of the year becomes city marshal, spoke briefly of the pleasant relations he had experienced with the members of the board during his years of service as inspector, and also of the cooperation given him by the other officials of the board.

The board audited bills and then went into executive to consider its budget for next year.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Dec. 14.—Miss Edna Hornbeck returned home Sunday after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Herman Stokes and family, of Accord.

Mrs. Jennie Traver, and son, David, of Palenstown, and Mrs. Harry Brown, and sons, spent Friday in Kingston.

Friends and relatives of Henry S. DeWitt were shocked to hear of his sudden death. Much heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer D. Terwilliger and Mr. and Mrs. Homer G. Terwilliger, and daughter, Arlene, of Cornwall, were pleasantly entertained as dinner guests of the former's sister, Mrs. J. Hornbeck, and son, Homer, Sunday.

Jacob Gray, of Tobasco, has been very lucky this year with hunting to capture two bears. Mr. Gray will soon take over his office as town superintendent of highways for the coming term.

Miss Edna Hornbeck is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Florence Wynkoop, of Tobasco, who is ill with a cold.

Charles Krom, of Shandaken, is spending the winter months with Mrs. Cella Kelder and brother, Charles Krom.

HIS HANDS HURT TODAY

In an attempt to arouse the sympathy of his wife who had left him, Harry McQuitty, 54-year-old former New Haven, Conn., fireman nailed himself by the palms of his hands to the kitchen door of his apartment. McQuitty is shown receiving treatment for his "crucifixion" injuries in a New Haven hospital. The ex-fire fighter also cut cross-shaped scratches on his face and forehead.

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, UP Science Editor.

New York.—The oddest thing about a rocket space ship is whether it might miss its landing.

A space ship among the stars cannot find one object in the whole universe standing still. Take earth, which the ship has left.

Earth is moving more than a third of a mile a second (at the factor) in surface rotation. It is traveling 18.5 miles a second around the sun, 12 miles a second toward the constellation Hercules and 175 miles a second around a far distant point in the Milky Way.

These motives are all in different directions, simultaneously. They are not all the known motions of stars, but only among those nearby and fairly accurately measured.

The space ship would be aided by gravitation. It would be part of all these motions, as if it were a little planet. But its navigator would have to do a lot of planning to hit the right point on time.

It he got too far away, it is conceivable that he might drift into a different gravitational current and never be able to come back.

A philosopher doesn't bother to sweep away the snow; he knows the sun will melt it sooner or later.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Dec. 14.—On Friday evening at 8 o'clock the new Central school was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. The following program was presented:

Selection, Marlborough Central School orchestra; Invocation, the Rev. A. Van de Beek Voss of Christ Episcopal Church; Welcome, Edgar M. Clarke, Jr., president of the Board of Education; Selection, Marlborough Central School Glee Club; Address, Anne ette Salinger of the student body; Greetings, Francis Kaley, Supervisor of the town of Marlborough; Address, Col. Gilmore, Eastern Regional Director of the PWA; Selection, Violin solo, Miss Dawes; Presentation of the key to the building, Gerard W. Betz, architect; Acceptance of the keys, President of the Board, Edgar M. Clarke, Jr.; Selection, Central Glee Club; Greetings, Ralph S. Johnston, District Superintendent; Address, Francis E. Griffin, supervisor, Rural Education Division, State Education Department; Alma Mater, entire audience; Benediction, Rev. James Hanley, pastor of St. Mary's Church; Inspection of the building. During the program, the audience heard former principal, Reuben A. Mable, who was principal of the Marlborough High School from 1904 until 1910, when he accepted a position at Hyde Park. Mr. Mable was thoroughly enjoyed, and after the program, a number of his former students had the pleasure of reuniting school days with him.

Following the program, cookies and coffee were served in the cafeteria.

One hundred and twenty-five pupils of the Marlborough Central School attended a concert last Thursday in the Newburgh Free Academy and heard the Rochester Civic orchestra, conducted by Guy Fraser Harrison. The program was prepared especially for children. Mr. Harrison introduced the various instruments to his young audience and explained each selection. A vein that was half serious, half humorous, before it was played.

On Tuesday, December 7, Fred A. Velie was re-elected fire commissioner for a term of five years. The election was held in the Marlborough Court House, from 7 o'clock until 10 o'clock. Fifty-two votes were cast, of which Mr. Velie had 31, one vote was blank. Three other candidates were: Will Brown, who polled 17, Charles Brown, who polled 1 and William McConnell, who polled 2. It was also voted to appropriate $2,200 by taxation.

Andrew H. Knapp was elected treasurer of the fire district for the term of three years, receiving 41 votes. Opposing him were William P. McConnell who received 1 vote, William Brown, who received 2 votes and there were 8 blank votes.

Mrs. Van Allen Salisbury has returned to her home here after spending a few days last week in Catskill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Michael Ruzie and family.

Three students in the Marlborough Central school are ill with scarlet fever, and one case is doubtful in the district. All cases have been reported to town health officer Dr. A. S. Ferguson, and everything possible is being done to prevent a spread of the disease. Those ill are Jonathan Penny, whose parents are employed on the farm of Hepworth, John Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bell of Milton and Grace Stant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stant.

On Tuesday evening, December 21, in St. Mary's Hall, the Marlborough Firemen will entertain the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen Association.

sent the appropriation. The actual appropriation for the work was $8,000. Instead of spending some $2,200 more than Mr. Seaman had asked for to carry on the work he saved the actual amount to be raised was $8,000 and the balance of the money to be spent for the children was represented by a refund of some $14,000. Clerk Stang also explained this matter and said the sum in the budget was $22,492.12 but that there was an anticipated refund from the state in the sum of $14,392.42 which left a net appropriation of $8,000. This was far less than last year. Mr. Stang also explained that a resolution would be offered to divide the balance now in the hands of the county treasurer to the credit of the Board of Child Welfare in an equalized amount between the city and county when they take over the children relief work the first of the year.

Mr. McDowell called attention to the fact that he considered the towns paying their share of the money appropriated for TB Hospital were not getting an equal share when the money was all spent in the city of Kingston.

On the roll call Supervisors Cragan, Hulsair, Kaley, Laicher, McDowell and Osterhout voted in the negative and the budget was adopted 20 to 6.

Resolutions Offered
Supervisors Murray and DuBois then offered a resolution and moved its adoption that the balance in the county treasurer's hands to the credit of the Board of Child Welfare or any and credits which might be due after all warrants had been paid on December 31, 1937, be distributed between the city and county for dependent children in the ratio which the city and county equalization rate bore to each other. On the motion Supervisors Cragan, Hulsair, Kaley, Laicher, McDowell and Osterhout voted "No." The motion was carried 20 to 6.

When the board convened Clerk Stang called the board to order and announced that in the absence of Chairman Pine that a temporary chairman be appointed. Supervisor Edward Murray of Shawangunk was named by Supervisor Seider and unanimously selected. Mr. Murray then very efficiently carried on the proceedings.

A report of the committee on errors in assessments was received and filed and later adopted. Bills and claims amounting to $490.15 for refunded taxes were reported and it was moved that the refunds be assessed and levied upon the town in which the refunds was to be paid. Adopted.

A request from the Veterans' Memorial Hospital at Ellenville for an appropriation of $2,500 was received. This amount was included in the budget.

Supervisor Cashdollar moved that Section 7 or Rule 6 be suspended so that resolutions calling for an appropriation might be voted upon the same night offered. Adopted.

Supervisors Leirey, Kelch and Andrews moved that corrections be made on the tax rolls of several towns where pension exemptions had not been allowed and that where these taxes have not been paid that the county treasurer pay to the town the amount of the unpaid tax and that the corrected tax when collected be credited to the town to which such advance is now made. Adopted.

On the call up of resolutions and motions offered at the prior session, adoption in most cases was unanimous but in the adoption of the report to appropriate $8,000 for dependent children the six Democratic supervisors voted "no." This was also true on the resolution to adopt the budget as previously stated.

The board then adjourned until December 29 at 4 p. m., when the final session of the year will be held. The annual supervisors' dinner will also be held that evening at Hotel Stuyvesant.

Police Seek Two More Bodies Today

Paris, Dec. 15 (AP)—Two women who had answered help wanted advertisements inserted in newspapers by Eugene Weidmann, confessed executioner for a murder-for-profit ring, were reported missing today.

Investigating police said they feared the two women may have met the same fate as Mme. Janine Keller, sixth of Weidmann's known victims, whose body was found in a Fontainebleau Forest grave yesterday. His confession that he had killed Jean de Koven, young Brooklyn, N. Y., dancer, started the prolonged investigation.

Detectives found want ad clippings in Weidmann's suburban St. Cloud villa and started a search for persons they said had answered his offers of employment. The investigators said they found all but two women, who were reported to have disappeared. Their names and nationalities were not disclosed.

Dr. Blakley Gets 5 to 10 Years in Prison "Siberia"

Dr. Julius W. Blakley, Highland physician and health officer of the town of Lloyd, is today being held in the Ulster County Jail pending transfer to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora where he will serve a five to 10 year sentence on his plea Monday afternoon of guilty to the charge of manslaughter, first degree, growing out of the death of Rita Bernice Genther on November 29, last. The specific charge in the indictment, which contained two manslaughter counts, was that the physician on November 18 had performed an operation which resulted in the death of the 15 year old girl. The charge is that a criminal operation was the cause of death.

Brought into court at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon under the guard of Sheriff Molyneux and Sergeant Hulse of the state police and several deputies and troopers, Dr. Blakley seemed to be entirely unbothered by his fate. He gave no outward sign of emotion and when District Attorney Cleon B. Murray opened the sealed indictment in which it was charged that the physician was responsible for the death of the young girl, the doctor gazed intently upon the prosecuting officer while the charge was read.

Wanted No Attorney
Asked if he had counsel Dr. Blakley said he had none.
"Do you wish to consult an attorney?" asked Mr. Murray.
"No," replied the doctor.
"How do you plead?" asked Mr. Murray.
"On what charge?" asked the defendant, apparently confused.

Blakley Case Is Subject of Great Satisfaction Here

One of the most vigorously prosecuted and speedily determined criminal actions ever to come before an Ulster county court was that of The People vs. Dr. Julius W. Blakley which came to a conclusion so far as the law is concerned within 24 hours after the investigation by the grand jury was concluded. Growing out of the death of a 15-year-old girl, the matter was presented to the grand jury by District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and his assistant, N. LeVan Haver. On evidence which was gathered by Sheriff Molyneux, State Troopers under the direction of Sergeant E. J. Hulse and members of the B. C. L., the grand jury acted.

Monday afternoon at 4:45 the grand jury reported an indictment that same evening Dr. Blakley, Highland physician and health officer of the town, was under arrest. The questioning of the doctor was continued throughout the night until early Tuesday morning. A confession was made and at 3 o'clock the doctor was in court for arraignment before Justice Sydney F. Foster. At 3:15 o'clock sentence had been pronounced and the Highland physician stood convicted and sentenced to a five to 10 year state prison sentence.

Less Than a Month
Since the commission of the crime, that of manslaughter, first degree, the latter part of November until the sentence was imposed less than a month had elapsed. During that time Mr. Murray and his investigators had gathered sufficient evidence to gain not only a conviction but a plea of guilty, thus saving the taxpayers of the county the expense of a long and difficult trial, the result of which could not be definitely foreseen.

Credit for the speedily terminated case should be given to the District Attorney, Sheriff and the State Troopers who worked unceasingly to gather necessary evidence to warrant a conviction on a charge which is considered by the legal profession as one of the most difficult charges to prove. County Judge Frederick G. Traver, former district attorney and a man who is well able from his past experience to pass judgment on the speedy and inexpensive manner in which the entire matter has been handled by the officials under whose charge the complaint was made and prosecuted.

Classifying the crime as a "class of case about the most difficult" which the prosecutor has to contend, Judge Traver extends his congratulations to District Attorney Murray, his assistant N. LeVan Haver, Sheriff Molyneux and his staff and to Sergeant E. J. Hulse and other State Troopers in "bringing this guilty doctor to justice" in a speedy manner which "thereby saving several thousand dollars of the taxpayers' money."

Judge's Letter.
A copy of Judge Traver's letter to the prosecuting officer of the county follows:
December 15, 1937
Honorable Cleon B. Murray, District Attorney of Ulster County,
Court House,
Kingston, N. Y.

My Dear Sir:
Permit me to offer you my most sincere congratulations upon the speedy successful result achieved by you in the prosecution of the case of The People vs. Julius Blakley.

I was in Supreme Court yesterday, upon the arraignment of this doctor, when I witnessed the first plea of guilty by a physician to the crime of manslaughter growing out of an abortion ever known in this county so far as I can remember.

During my fifteen years as district attorney I never was called upon to prosecute such a case, but previous to that time, while serving as assistant district attorney, I had plenty of experience along that line without much success and such a thing as a plea of guilty to this sort of crime was absolutely unheard of.

Since this arraignment I have learned something of the inside history of this case and something of the amount and quality of the work done by you and by Assistant District Attorney Haver, with the efficient cooperation of Sheriff Molyneux and his staff and Sergeant Hulse and other State Troopers in bringing this guilty doctor to justice, which forced him to plead guilty, thereby saving several thousand dollars of the taxpayers' money.

As you know, I have been conversant with the administration of criminal affairs in this county for nearly 38 years and I say to you that I have never known of a better piece of work here than you have done in this case.

I consider this class of cases about the most difficult with which a prosecutor has to contend, much more so in fact, for reasons familiar to you, than murder cases.

You and those associated with you in this prosecution have rendered service of a very high character to the people of this county and I trust that they will appreciate it and give credit where credit is due.

Very sincerely yours,
FREDERICK G. TRAYER,
County Judge.

Budget Increase
Rome, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Italian cabinet today approved an estimated increase of 1,266,559,890 lira ($66,661,047) in the ordinary budget for the fiscal year 1938-1939. About one-fifth of the increase was for armaments. The proposed budget totaled 25,035,106,948 lira ($1,301,825,561). Estimated receipts indicated a budgetary surplus of 37,422,466 lira ($1,945,968).

Clerk Position Stricken from List Of Highway Dept.

In the schedule of salaries which was adopted by the board of supervisors for the coming year, one clerk-stenographer in the Ulster county highway department was eliminated from the list.

This elimination of the $1,050 appropriation does not mean anyone is being laid off. That position was created some time ago following serious floods and greatly increased bridge and highway work in the county. Since then this emergency work has been completed and for some time this position has not been filled. In fact the employee who filled that position resigned some time ago and the job has never been filled since.

In striking from the salary list this qualification no one is being "let out" but as the need for the position ceased some time ago there was no appointment to the position when the last incumbent resigned.

In place of this full time job at $1,050 a year the board allowed the sum of $610 for extra clerk hire during the rush periods of the year.

Seek Joker In Revised Code

York and that the legislature was called into session merely to pass a formal act approving of the restatement of laws now on the statute books. To this he has no objection, but if, as he is led to believe, new wording has been introduced, that makes important changes in the meaning of the statutes, he will do all in his power to prevent rushing of the legislation through the legislature. "If that means obstruction and continuation of what was intended to be a one-day session, I am sorry," said Mr. Conway to a Freeman reporter Tuesday, "but I feel that it is my job to look after the interests of my constituents in Ulster county, and I am going to do all in my power to see that they are protected."

Tammany Opposition
Albany, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP).—A demand for a last minute amendment and possible opposition from a Tammany Assembly bloc threatened today to delay approval of New York city's administrative code at a special session of the State Legislature tomorrow.

A legislative leader said that Ulster county officials had demanded a change in the proposed code, designed to eliminate a section which, if permitted to remain, would exempt a New York city water supply source from taxation in that county. Unless the amendment is made, the source, who declined to be quoted, added, the Republican Assembly leadership will decline to support the measure, which New York City Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia wants enacted by January 1 to supplement a new city charter.

Republican Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, as well as Democratic Senate Leader John J. Duggan, last week promised LaGuardia that the code would receive swift approval. This was before the demand for the amendment, however.

Meanwhile, Tammany district leaders were reported to have requested their assemblymen to withhold support of the code until they are convinced it will not displace some of their jobholders. "How can we be sure that this code isn't full of jokers?" one Tammany leader was quoted as saying.

May Ask More Study
Because the bill embodying the code contains 3,500 pages, the Tammany bloc may demand at immediate action on the ground that further study will be required.

Passage of the measure will require a two-thirds vote of members of each house of the legislature, 98 in the Assembly and 74 in the Senate. Republicans have 74 votes as against the Democrats' 73 in the Assembly. The Senate is Democratic-dominated, 23 to 22.

Governor Lehman called the special session after receiving assurance of LaGuardia that the code would ride through the legislature without opposition. Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat, New York city Republican and once a member of the board of statutory consolidation which adopted the proposed code, said "there is no joker" in either the 3,500-page bill embodying the code nor in a second measure, also to be considered, codifying all state laws pertaining to New York city.

Yoffat added that he had heard reports of Tammany opposition to a third bill, to be introduced at the regular legislative session which convenes January 5, codifying all New York county laws.

"END-TO-END" RADIO COMMUNICATION FORESEEN

Philadelphia, Dec. 15 (AP).—Trainmen foresaw "end-to-end" radio communication on long freights today as a substitute for shrieking whistle signals.

Short wave stations in the engine cab and in the caboose of the same train also may mean the passing, they expect, of one of the most colorful of railroad figures—the flagman.

The Pennsylvania railroad tried out the sets on a 20-mile run from Philadelphia to Pottsville, Pa., in a 30-car freight, and then announced it hoped eventually to install them throughout its system. Throughout the trip the engineer in the cab and the conductor in the caboose sat comfortably in their seats and carried on the technical conversation necessary for the movement of cars.

Asks Boycott to Halt Fascist Wars

Addressing the American League for Peace and Democracy, Tuesday evening at the Uptown Community Center, Miss Dorothy McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal Church warned that "We are not organized enough for democracy."

Miss McConnell made her remark in discussing plans for the overthrow of Fascism, and urging that the United States begin preparations. France, she said, is the only country where organization for peace and democracy has defeated Fascist objectives and she explained that women are the logical ones to lead with plans for strengthening and developing of democratic system of government.

The speaker advised that American women consider putting their own "embargo" on materials from the Fascist nations, especially at this time when purchasing Christmas gifts, urging that they refrain from buying goods manufactured in these countries.

Stating that 89 per cent of the silk used in this country comes from Japan, Miss McConnell pointed out how easy it would be for local women to cut down a lot of the revenue taken in by this article if they would buy and wear clothing made from materials that are products of the United States.

Citing that other nations watch the United States and follow its policies, Miss McConnell demonstrated by recalling that "Fascism" was a dangerous word in South America before President Roosevelt visited Buenos Aires. As a result of his speech before 19 "uneasy" dictators and "only two" presidents of free republics, there was a noticeable reduction in the suppression of the civil rights of the citizens.

Would Have City Participate in Housing Program

Alderman-elect Walter Donnaruma, of the Sixth Ward, announced yesterday that he is in communication with the office of Nathan Strauss director of the Federal Housing Authority in Washington, to learn definitely if Kingston is eligible to participate in the low cost housing program being financed by the Federal Government.

In the event that Kingston is eligible to receive a grant from the Federal Government I will introduce immediately such local legislation in the Common Council to create a housing authority under the New York State Housing Authorities Act, which can operate here in Kingston," Donnaruma stated.

"In Washington at the present time allocations to various cities already are being earmarked. A total sum of $50,000,000 is available for this much needed project in New York state. While in larger cities applications have already been made, Kingston still has an opportunity to participate if we make a request within the next sixty days. Within the next few days I hope to be able to enlarge further on this statement, as I expect to be in possession of more facts from the office of the administrator, Mr. Strauss."

Chicago Man Hurt In Auto Crash

Gust Sjodin, 35, a painter of Chicago, was injured and his car badly damaged when it was in collision with a trailer truck of Neede's Express driven by Chauncey Van Demark of 612 Delaware avenue, about 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at Albany and Foxhall avenues. Mr. Sjodin, who was badly cut about the face and also cut on the leg had his wounds dressed at the Kingston Hospital and was discharged. Later he decided to remain here for further treatment and entered the Benedictine Hospital. The injuries to his face were caused by flying glass.

Mr. Sjodin in making a report of the accident to the police department stated he was driving out Albany avenue as the trailer truck was coming south. He claimed that the trailer truck pulled in front of his car as it attempted to go down Foxhall avenue and that his Ford coupe crashed into the truck.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels, (gas builds up your stomach). You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Police Inaugurate Safety Campaign

The Kingston police department is launching a safety and educational campaign in the city this week in an effort to cut down the number of accidents to a minimum. In an effort to educate the motorists the campaign of education is taking the form of a series of safety articles written by Lieutenant Charles Phinney. The first of the series appeared Monday and today Lieutenant Phinney discusses headlights. His article follows:

Recently there appeared in the local press articles relative to headlights on automobiles, said articles having been written by Lieut. James V. Simpson and myself, and since that time there has been a noted improvement in reference to same, proving, of course, that many motorists are interested by said articles but for some unknown reason there are several motorists that up to this time have no thought of regulating their headlights so as to conform with the rules and regulations set forth in the vehicle and traffic laws of the state of New York.

Unless this type of motorist gets busy and does as the regulations call for it is going to be much more expensive to him than it would be if he were to equip his car with regulation lights and keep them that way. The law specifies that the candle power of headlights shall not be greater than twenty-one (21) candle power, except when otherwise specified by a certificate of approval issued by the commissioner of motor vehicles, yet there are motorists that will insert bulbs in their headlights that are of much greater candle power than producing a very glaring head light and very detrimental to the driver approaching from the opposite direction.

Ever so many drivers start out from a given point at night and fail to turn on their headlights, and by so doing make it almost impossible for the operator of a car approaching from the opposite direction to observe that particular car by reason of having his mind centered on the car in fear of him who has his headlights turned on, and in the event the driver of a car is to make a left turn it is most certain that he would run into the car that shows no lights.

Are you aware that when you are proceeding on the highway at a rate of 30 miles per hour that you are traveling 45 feet per second, and the pedestrian in the same time is taking but two steps, and then if you happen to strike a pedestrian especially at night, you will be held in your demerit, and that the person in question worked right in front of your car and that the accident was unavoidable so far as you were concerned.

Test your lights before leaving your home or wherever you start from and ascertain as to whether or not they are in working condition, and if they are not, do not start out until this cause is remedied. As for operating your car on streets that are as well lighted as Broadway, Strand and Wall street, it would be much better if you would proceed with dim lights instead of glaring headlights, and that practice would also have a tendency to eliminate accidents by reason of not blinding the drivers of cars approaching from opposite direction, thereby making it exceptionally difficult for them to observe pedestrians crossing the street.

Endeavor to carry out the foregoing instructions and give the other drivers and pedestrians the same consideration that you would expect.

AND TALKS ON MATTERS MASCULINE

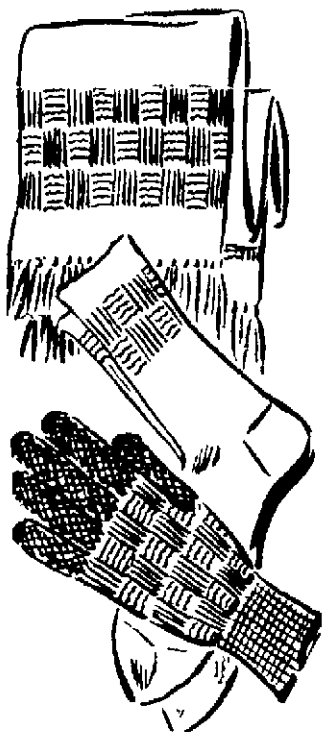

You may have run out of ideas for Christmas shopping but we haven't. Here are a few more suggestions all new, all interesting, and all highly useful to the American male. The only difficulty you will have with these presents will be in bringing yourself to part with them.

The bell-shaped cocktail shaker is taken, the town by storm. You unscrew the handle to fill it with ice water, replace the handle, shake it with a bell ringing motion and you have the resulting "cocktail" from the top of the handle.

The soda syphon in a smart black and red design, is filled with plain water then a small metal bulb is inserted at the top and presto! You have a syphon full of savor. Not only is it very good looking but it turns out soda water at a low cost.

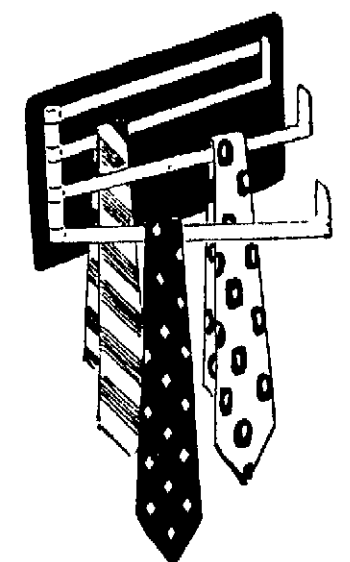

Matched accessories have always been popular and here is a swell new set. The design is definitely 1938 and the tie-up of socks, gloves, and muffler.

may be credited to the same A. D. For skating, football, and hockey games, and most outdoor winter activities, such a set is most useful.

A good leather belt, of which there is an endless variety of leathers, colors, and types, is a welcome gift indeed. Belts which stretch to accommodate that extra heavy Christmas dinner can now be had in leather or in metal.

An old coat hanger is not the ideal or the most practical place to keep neckties, so if you have an acquaintance who is struggling along with this primitive arrangement, we suggest this rack. It has four flat bars that hinge outward so that the whole collection of ties is available for complete and instant inspection at the traditional flip of the wrist.

Matched Sets Novel Note in Accessories

An excellent gift and one that is sure to prove useful is a matched garter and suspender set. It is every man's ambition to have a pair of suspenders for every pair of trousers, but few have it because one seldom thinks of buying a pair of suspenders every time a pair of slacks or a suit is bought.

Then, too, old suspenders wear out and replacements are not made with regularity, so a suspender and garter set makes a present that is sure to be appreciated.

Shown below is a set of this description in a simple but smart pattern. The next item is a pair of suspenders in a trellis design. Their special features are comfort grip and long wear.

At the bottom of the group is an interesting belt, which carries a zipper pocket on the inside long enough to contain a few folded bank notes. If you're going into a questionable neighborhood or for any reason want to especially protect your money, here's a fine way of doing it.

Slippers may seem a prosaic present, but they are often more welcome than gadgets of a more exotic nature. Here is a good looking pair of simple design.

In fact it's better protection than a money belt, which a bandit may sometimes look for, but he'll never expect that you have money tucked away between the folds of your ordinary belt. The belt is made of high grade leather and has a solidly constructed buckle.

Woodstock Snow Sports Ass'n Held Meeting Monday

Woodstock, Dec. 15.—The regular meeting of the Woodstock Winter Sports Association was held on Monday evening in Twin Falls to hear the reports of officers and committees.

The Twin Oaks ice hockey team of Newburgh has made arrangements with the Association to play a number of games at the regulation rink of the Woodstock organization during the season. This takes at least five teams entered in the league whose schedule will be played at Woodstock for a championship trophy. Other teams from Poughkeepsie, Kingston and Saugerties. Lumber for the Woodstock rink was delivered on Monday and it is now in the process of construction and should be completed and ready for installation by the first of next week. It is expected that the Saugerties Roamers and Newburgh Falcons will practice on the new rink next week in preparation for the opening game they will play at Woodstock on Sunday, December 26.

The Saugerties Roamers are managed by Police Chief Richter and the Falcons by E. Turner. It was reported at the meeting that approximately 200 persons, most of them school children, were skating on the Woodstock ice last Sunday. The skating area is 800 feet long by 200 feet wide and the ice is in excellent condition.

Snow was deep enough on the overlook trail to permit skiing last week-end.

Leon Carey reporting for the level Club Dance for the association, stated that each association had received $58.21 from the fair.

The Woodstock bus corporation was reported as having signed their willingness to offer a round-trip fair of 50 cents from Kingston to Woodstock for those who present a membership card of the Woodstock Winter Sports Association.

The committee who have been working on a folder for the organization reported that after designating the folder it was found that the cost of printing it would be prohibitive at this time. It has therefore been decided to save the designs for another year and to print a simple folder for this year's use.

Members who had heard Stan A's broadcast last week-end were enthusiastic about the boost to the Woodstock winter sports.

Leon Lasher reported that he had practiced him in Bearsville and only a few more inches of snow to put it into shape for use.

Rifle Club Match
The Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club will hold its first league match this Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the basement of the municipal auditorium. Opponents of the shoot will be members of the Kingston Rifle Club. Last Monday the local club enjoyed a match with New Paltz on the new high school range. All persons interested in the local club are urged to attend the match Thursday night.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press.
Providence, R. I.—Casey Kinslein, New York, threw Mike Koski, Poland, 13-43. (Heavyweights.)

New Haven, Conn.—Red Russell, 220, Texas, and Gino Garibaldi, 218, St. Louis, disqualified after each had won one fall.

Reading, Pa.—Danno O'Malley, 225, Ireland, pinned Abe Ashley, 212, Paterson, N. J., 15-2.

Joe Stydhar, Bear Tackle, Not Baugh, Standout Player

New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—The standout player of the 1937 National Pro Football League season isn't Slinging Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins, as the headlines and his game-winning passes might have led the fans to believe, but Joe Stydhar, veteran tackle of the Chicago Bears.

That was the way the coaches of the ten league clubs figured, at least when it came to casting their ballots for the all-league team. With votes counted on a basis of five points for first-team selection and three for second-team, Stydhar received 43 points out of a possible 50.

Turk Edwards, the Washington Redskins' center, was the other standout, with 40 points and Earl (Buck) Clark of the Detroit Lions, who was chosen quarterback with same point total, to share runner-up honors.

Baugh, who broke the league record by completing 81 passes during the regular season, who "choked" the Redskins to victory over the Bears in last Sunday's off game and who gained 1,000 yards through the air to lead the league in that department, did manage to make the team. He polled 21 points for a back berth to tie with Ernie Ikel of Detroit but nine points less for quarterback gave Baugh the cliff battles. Baugh's team-mate who led the league in ground gaining with an 874-yard total, and Clark, Hinkle of the Green Bay Packers, a holdover from last year's all-star team, complete the backfield. The only other "freshman" to be chosen was Geyll Tinsley, Chicago Cardinals' end. The real veterans are Clark, the oldest player at 31, and Mel Hein, New York Giants' center, who established a record by being chosen for the all-league team the fifth consecutive year.

The first team with points on a 5-3 basis:

Player, club and position:

Hill Hewitt, Philadelphia (23), tackle.

Joe Stydhar, Chicago Bears (43), tackle.

Lon Evans, Green Bay (27), guard.

Mel Hein, New York (29), center.

George Musso, Bears (23), tackle.

Turk Edwards, Washington Redskins (40), tackle.

Geyll Tinsley, Chicago Cardinals (38), end.

Earl (Buck) Clark, Detroit Lions (40), Q. B.

Chiff Battles, Washington (32), H. B.

Sammy Baugh, Washington Redskins (21), H. B.

Clark Hinkle, Green Bay (28), Q. B.

Baugh received 3 points also for quarterback.

The Fuller quintet cut down the Central Hudsons, 19-8, Tuesday night in the City Basketball League at the municipal auditorium.

Smashing their way into the lead early, the Shirt Makers held it throughout the game as Carpio and Thomas cut loose to tally 15 and 19 of the Fuller markers. Raichle and Merritt tallied from the field for the Gaucos.

As Hercules defeated the Jewish Youth Alliance, 32-19, Norm Niles gave a stellar exhibition of basket-making as he rolled up 16 points for the Powdermakers. Bahl did the best shooting for the Hebrews.

The Forest Packers made a severe threat in their game with the Knights of Columbus, but were unable to hold their pace and lost by the narrow margin of 17-15.

Thursday's Schedule.

7:30—Rainbows vs. Kennys.

8:30—Whidow Cleaners vs. Whirlwinds.

9:30—Pirates vs. Grunewalds.

The Pirate-Grunewald game should be one of the most exciting to date in the league. Directly to date in the league, Directly or Sid Lutrin thinks, because these are two of the strongest teams in the Open Division, and because there is a three-way tie in the division.

Tomorrow's battle between these two powerful quintets will point to the winner of this division. The Grunewalds, Rainbows and Pirates have each won two and lost none, to make the triple tie in the standings.

Kinney will be out hot and heavy for a win over the Rainbows, after a series of hard breaks that have kept them from winning as many as their rivals, and in the other contest on the side, the Whirlwinds will try to break onto the glory road after losing two battles.

New York—Enricho Venturi, 133½, Italy, outpointed George Zengaras, 135½, New York (8).

New York—Young Chappie, 132½, Albany, and Jimmy Lancaster, 132½, Wilmington, Del., drew (6).

All Americans Are Safe Report Says, in Nanking; Survivors Tell of Panay

Shanghai, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Japanese embassy said today 27 foreigners—including 18 Americans—who were within the walls of Nanking when Japanese troops stormed and captured the Chinese capital city, were all reported safe in a message from Nanking.

Reside the Americans, there were six Germans, two Russians and a Briton who chose to remain in the beleaguered city, rather than evacuate on a river boat as many other endangered foreigners did.

The embassy report said there were 150,000 Chinese in the "safety zone."

Three American survivors of the Panay bombing arriving here today declared the United States government vigorously returned the Japanese aircraft fire and that the Panay was plainly marked with American flags.

The survivors, two of them badly wounded and the third suffering from shock to such an extent he could not tell of his experience, were brought here by a Japanese plane from Wuhu.

Their condition caused fears that many of the refugees en route from the scene of the bombing on American and British gunboats might be suffering similarly from shock and exposure.

Will Go Further.

Tokyo, Dec. 15 (AP)—Japan, already having apologized and offered indemnity for war-like attacks on the United States gunboat Panay and three American-owned steamers, was prepared today to go "even further if necessary" to meet the diplomatic emergency, government officials said.

As an additional gesture of regret, it was said, a national salute to the American flag and military honors for the Americans killed Sunday in the Yangtze river incident were under consideration.

The general public was deeply concerned, although the Japanese press published virtually nothing of the sentiment in Washington or the United States and refrained from editorial comment.

The newspapers, however, did print a long statement of the Imperial headquarters, the highest Japanese military and naval organ, in which it was charged that the several vessels attacked by naval forces on the Japanese warplanes when the Panay was sunk.

The headquarters statement declared that the Japanese airmen had reported the vessels "carried no flags" and that "many soldiers, apparently Chinese, were sighted among them."

The press also carried Foreign Minister Koki Hirota's note to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in which Japan tendered "sincere apologies," promised "indemnifications for all losses" and to "deal appropriately with those responsible for the incident" and announced "strict orders" had been issued to prevent a recurrence of the incident.

Declines Comment.

A foreign office spokesman, saying that "nobody is qualified to say anything about the emperor," declined to confirm or deny a report that Hirohito would grant an audience to the foreign minister for presentation of a memorandum from President Roosevelt.

(The American executive on Monday directed Secretary of State Hull to tell Japanese Ambassador Hirota that the President was "deeply shocked and concerned by the news of the indiscriminate bombing of American and other non-Chinese vessels on the Yangtze and that he requests that the emperor be so advised.")

Earlier a high Japanese official said that the gist of the Roosevelt memorandum had been delivered to the emperor.

Regarding Japan's next moves in the tense diplomatic exchange, the foreign office spokesman replied to all questions: "We are still gathering information. Hence it is too early to discuss proposed."

Competent observers said the Panay incident was a serious reversal for Japanese diplomacy which had been assiduously trying to cultivate the United States to prevent loss of a British-American front with regard to the far east.

(The turn of events of the troubled Yangtze brought Tokyo's diplomats sharply face-to-face with a situation in which the United States and Britain were closely linked—for the British gunboats ladybird and Bee also were attacked on Sunday.)

(The British cabinet was considering a protest to Japan along the lines of yesterday's formal protest from Washington.)

Panay Fired At Planes.

Shanghai, Dec. 15 (AP). Jim Marshall, Collier's magazine for eastern correspondent and survivor of the Panay bombing, said today the Panay opened fire on the attacking Japanese planes when bombs started dropping and "kept her guns blazing until the last minute."

Marshall arrived in Shanghai by airplane today from Wuhu, Yangtze river port to which he had made his way after the attack which destroyed the Panay and damaged three Standard Oil Company ships Sunday.

"The Japanese planes dropped 12 bombs around the Panay and the Standard Oil vessels," the writer related.

"They came so low it was impossible for them to know the Panay was a foreign ship."

"The visibility was excellent. The first bomb hit the fore-castle. When the ship began sinking the captain ordered her abandoned."

"All passengers and crew members pumped overboard."

"I landed on the deck of the Meian (one of the Standard Oil vessels) and helped the captain pull up anchor to get under way."

"I was on the Meian when I was struck in the shoulder by shrapnel."

"Marshall's condition was not serious. He was suffering from exposure and went to a hospital."

Two other survivors of the sinking of the United States gunboat and a British naval officer arrived in Shanghai with Marshall on the Japanese plane. The survivors were: F. Hayden Vines, Roanoke, Va., employee of the British American Tobacco Company, and John L. Hodges, Panay fireman.

Flag Captain O'Donnell of the British Yangtze river patrol accompanied them. The officer had been wounded in the hand.

The United States gunboat Oahu and the British gunboat Ladybird conveyed by the Japanese gunboat Hozu, were steaming down the Yangtze toward Shanghai with most of the other survivors.

All foreigners involved in the incident, except three known dead, were reported safe and either aboard the vessels or ready to embark. The U. S. Cruiser Augusta listed 16 wounded in the tragedy. Other reports gave names of two more wounded.

Marshall brought to Shanghai the first detailed eye-witness account of what happened when the American gunboat was bombed and machine-gunned off Holsien in the Yangtze 220 miles above here.

The first survivors to reach this city had made their way to Wuhu, despite bitter fighting in the area, for first aid at the American Missionary Hospital.

Serious Damages.

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Dec. 15 (AP)—Spanish government dispatches reported today that insurgent airmen inflicted serious damages and casualties in a mistaken bombardment of their own field base at Villafraanca Del Ebro on the northeastern warfront. Insurgents last night resumed bombardment of Madrid with 15 persons killed and more than 50 wounded.

Calm Killer's Victim

Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, (above) 38-year-old Philadelphia divorcee, was shot and killed by a calm young man who also alleged and attempted to attack Mrs. Carpenter's companion, Miss Mary Griffin, 22. The slaying occurred in the Carpenter home in fashionable Camp Hill.

made connection with the sewer line; that these laterals would be charged against them when used. Alderman Epstein suggested that when these laterals are finally put into use and paid for, receipts from this source would appear in revenues of the Board of Public Works, which had already reimbursed the WPA for the expense. David Petroski said that the sewer had been laid through Hudson street in 1934, but that when he bought his house there in 1936 he got a bill for $10. President Schwenk said that his case would be looked into.

Robertson's Report

Alderman Robertson entered into the discussion and aroused considerable interest when he said that he "knew a man who has never paid a dime for this service." President Schwenk told the alderman that he thought that complaint should have been placed before the Board of Public Works.

The alderman said, also, that he believed that the charge should be made retroactive and should cover all installations since the beginning of the sewer system. He held that charges for installation of laterals should be made against all properties, even vacant lots.

Following a short recess Alderman Zucca moved that in view of the various arguments that had been presented and the desirability of securing further information on the subject, the Common Council adjourn subject to the call of its president. The motion was unanimously adopted and the meeting adjourned without having taken any action in the matter.

In addition to President Schwenk all aldermen were present with the exception of Messrs. Lucaszewski, Vogel and Reilly.

Cold Wave Abates Here; 20 Above

The cold wave that has gripped the city for several days, showed signs of abating today when the coldest point reached during the night was 20 degrees. This point was touched at 3 o'clock this morning by the official city thermometer at the city hall. This was a difference of seven degrees from the coldest point recorded this winter when the city thermometer on Sunday morning recorded 13 degrees above zero.

Because of the scarcity of vegetables early American settlers used a great deal of meat in their cooking, and the abundance of meat is still the first characteristic of American cookery.

Miller Awarded $620 Damages By Court Jury

Henry Miller of Marbletown was awarded $620 damages in his action brought in Supreme Court against Jamesetta Fraser and another. Mr. Miller sued for injuries which he suffered when struck by a car of defendant in New York city as he was crossing the street. Francis T. Murray appeared for plaintiff.

Tuesday afternoon an action for damages for breach of contract was taken up before Justice Foster and a jury in Supreme Court. Joseph Locascio, Jr., of New Paltz, seeks to recover damages from Superior Equipment Company of New York for failure of a pumping equipment which he bought from defendants to meet his requirements. He claimed that the pump and motor was guaranteed to raise a certain amount of water to a swimming pool on his premises and he alleges that it failed to perform.

On May 21, 1937, he claims he bought a pump and motor and paid down a certain sum. When the equipment did not meet his requirements he said he asked the company to take back the equipment and refund his money and this offer was refused. He seeks to recover $341.63 as cost of the equipment and also $266.63 installation costs.

The defendant claims the equipment was tested at the store and worked and on June 1, 1937, when it was returned it was again tested and worked. It is claimed that he asked for a smaller pump and a refund on the contract price.

Charles Parker, New Paltz electrical contractor, and the plaintiff testified. Parker said the motor was too small for the load and would not pick up sufficient speed to cut out as it was supposed to. It was testified that the intake pipe was cut down from 3 inches to 1 1/4 inches in order to overcome this but after experimenting it was found the smaller intake would not provide sufficient water for the pool.

The case will be continued today. Michael Nardone with William A. Kaercher appear for the plaintiff and Morris Goldfarb with Dorr Monroe appear for the defendant corporation.

Would Protect Inquiry

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP)—Faced with a complete change in city and county administration on January 1, a councilmanic committee and grand jurors investigating city affairs sought today to protect the fruits of six weeks of inquiry.

The grand jury, already in session two weeks over its scheduled period, is seeking legal means to have a special prosecutor named to take over the investigation and assure its continuity. The jury asked for judicial advice on means of appointing a special prosecutor.

Eight Take Exams For School Clerk

Eight young women took the civil service examination at the high school Tuesday evening. The examination was held by the Municipal Service Commission for the purpose of preparing an eligible list to submit to the education board from which an appointment of clerk in the principal's office in the high school could be made.

The examination was in charge of Lester C. Elmendorf, Judge Augustus Shufeldt and Harvey Sammons, commissioners. It is expected that the civil service board will meet next week to rate the examination papers and prepare an eligible list. The three who receive the highest marks will have their names submitted to the education board which will select one of the three for the position.

May Block Code
New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—Suspicious Tammany district leaders today threatened to block adoption of the city's new administrative code when it is presented to a special session of the legislature tomorrow. Although Mayor F. H. LaGuardia contended the proposed new code was merely a reclassification and codification of existing law governing the city, some Tammany leaders expressed fear that it might displace their constituents from county jobs.
